

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A method of distributing images, linked to the use of telematics. The method permits the user of a transport vehicle to electronically issue a work order to a photographic kiosk from a multimedia console contained in a vehicle. The method includes sending an order electronically and enhancing it with navigation parameters especially concerning the vehicle's geographic position. The user is informed automatically of the site of the kiosk located approximately on this route and compatible with the parameterized data.